We do?

Well, Don Diego thought it was time for some fresj akzion in this war called graffiti, so he put an army together of well educated chemical workers trying to create this new type of weapon: the 'maga2000sup@fly#zine'. Graffiti from the Netherlands is where it starts, but world domination is the target. The project was named 'Fuck off ' because that was what don diego was told when he tried to get people together, that's why he welcomes any input...!

It took a long time before the Don got his weapon in production, spies had infiltrated in the organization wich led to a bust. But Don's connections are the illest. So check it.....

Berlin

one of the most bombed cities you've ever seen, it's got everything that makes a city cool: ghettos like 'kreuzberg', bums, bitches, pimps, prostitutes, crazy-graffiti scene, trainyards, lots of walls, a big subway system and 'SOKO'(cops).
Famous crews: RCB, DRM and TVU
Famous writers: LITE, REW, MARE, DEJOE (to name a few...)

Trains are bombed on a steady bases, the subways are different, if you want 2 rock, you'll have to go underground like a rat.
For over 50 years Berlin was divided in east and west, two x-tremely different cities in one. One with completely bombed streets and not understanding citizens, the other with a known graffiti reputation and pigs who know the deal: 'There's a special unit in Berlin's police department assigned to wipe out the streetside art'. CNN, May 18, 1997.
Tok: 'In the beginning cops from the east weren't allowed to check shit in the east and visa versa, so a lot of actions took place in the eastern yards. Shit was hectic, upcoming 'eastside writers' were inspired by the shit wester side writers rocked, crews like: 35'ers, DMB, TRB, LOFD and CBS came up real fast. Although they made alot of 'wack shit' writers from the west gave respect 2 the new 'eastern scene'. '200 or so serious sprayers in Berlin. And there are as many as 10,000 or more suspected of spraying just for fun, a source of amusement that authorities could do without'. CNN, May 18, 1997 'Nowadays shit's changed on yards: cops check every teenager within 100 meters of a yard 24 hours a day! It's harder than it used to be, but still trains get painted on a weekly bases. So the cooperation of east and west is straightup cool, I think Berlin is a city with a lot of different styles on both walls and steel, we respect them all'.

Word from a Hall of Fame fan:

A few months ago, Utrecht got it's true and only legal Hall of Fame. Great spot, a lot of space, smooth surface, a snack bar nearby, you name it. last few months lots of writers visited the place and went crazy over there so everybody was happy. Unfortunately the fairy tale has almost come to an end. Local companies complained about the dirt. If we want to keep the wall legal, we'll have to chill them out.

A.K.A: DON'T THROW YOUR SHIT ALL OVER THE PLACE.
